CRUSHED TO DEATH. Grand Stand Falls During a French Cele

MONTREAL, July 16.—(By the Assoclated Press.) A grand stand containing 1000 men, women and children collapsed at the Park Royal this afternoon. It was the third day's cele-bration of the fall of the Bas-tile, under the auspices of L'Union Nationale Francaise. The stand with its human load crashed to the ground without the slightest warning.

A terrible panic ensued among the 10,000 people who thronged the park. The unfortunates who went down with the stand lay piled in inextricable confusion among the wreck of beams and planking, while over them rushed and trampled the fear-maddened crowd who filled the reserve seat inclosure. Cries of pain and terror filled the air, and for many moments men seemed to have lost all presence of mind.

When the managers and crowd fin-ally regained their senses and the work of extricating the people from the wreck was begun, it was ascertained that no one was killed, although many were injured, and some seriously, among them, Mme. Boyer, Ellen and Mary Purton, Charles Baudet, Mrs. Dumochal, Arthur Payett and Percy Linernois.

THE INTERNATIONAL.

The Commission New Working Up its Notes on the Survey. WASHINGTON, July 16.—(By the As-sociated Press.) The International Rail-way Commission, which is one of the outgrowths of the late Pan-American way Commission, which is one of the outgrowths of the late Pan-American Congress, is now engaged in winding up the work it has been pursuing for the past two years, and engineers and surveyors, who have been in the field, are now preparing reports and reducing their field notes to the shape of maps and charts. It will require the greatest economy for the commission, with the funds on hand, to close up the work and print its reports, which will then be open for the use of capitalists who may seek to profit by these government surveys, and build the railroads that are contemplated. Concerning the whole work it may be said that the reports of field engineers demonstrate the feasibility of building the railroads to connect the systems of North America with those of South America, and there are no insurmountable engineering difficulties in the way of the successful prosecution of such work. The whole number of miles surveyed aggregate 4500.

The Jews of Yalta, in Crimea, refused to obey the decree to retire within their pale for several days, and the clergy exhorted the population to rise and expel them. The Jews fought back and dozens were dragged through the streets and beaten. Many were killed. Houses owned by the Jews were plundered and wrecked. Troops were called to the town to restore order. None of the rioters were killed, and but few were injured.

The Perfect Female Form.

(Ladies' Home Journal:) Nothing is more truly artistic than the simply out-lined oval of the perfect female form. It is but slightly depressed at the waist, the hips are as wide as the shoulders, there is not an angle from top to toe It is as different from the outline with fashionable "well set up" woman, with her squared shoulders and angular hips, her squared shoulders and angular hips, as a horse is from a camel. We call the high-belted empire dresses artistic, because this preserves the oval better than the longer-waisted shapes.

The nude figure has no belt line.

When the weight rests equally upon the feet, and the body is held upright the smallest measurement of the waist is smaniest measurement of the waist is about where the modern belt is placed. But let the body bend to one side and the point of intersection of the hip and side muscles will be over an inch above the former belt line. This is why field laborers, even to the slenderest young will are short, waisted. For hyginate girl, are short-waisted. For hygienic reasons the belt should never be below this point, and by thus shorten-ing the straight under arm seam by an inch the beauty of the uncorseted waist is materially aided.

When the market closed on June 3 the Gould trust securities were worth $6,000,000 less than on the day Jay Gould died. Even that was better than their condition a month ago. The rigzag of the Gould millions in these few months makes an interesting few months makes an interesting study in big figures. The local team then went in with 98 to get, but they were all out for 41, owing to the excellent fielding and bowling of the visitors, among whom Jones-Bateman was consplicuous, he catching no less than five men at point, while Barry took twelve wickets in the match with very little effort, Porteous and Masters alone offering resistence. The Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association have decided to hold their summer meeting at the Bay District track, favorable terms having been made with the lessee. The racing will last four days, and the various events will be hotly contested.

In the free-for-all trotting race it is assured that the big four — Edenia, 2:174; Steve Whipple, 2:14; Shylock, 2:16½, and Lee, 2:20—will enter. This will be a hard guessing race, as none of these, with the exception of Edenia, have had much track work.

In the 2:20 and 2:22 classes are seen the names of tried campaigners such as Boodle, Bay Rum, Mabel H. and Chancellor in the first, and Col. Hickman, Flora, Laura Z. Melvar and Electrina in the latter. The one to pick the winners in these two races will be fortunate.

The belt which goes to a thirty-two-inch wheel in an ordinary bicycle, the practical circumference of a sixty-four-inch wheel, passes around a small wheel called the sprocket. And within a solid sprocket wheel is concealed the new invention that forces the machine up steep slopes.

The inner circumference of this sprocket is cogged, just as is the outer circumference, and about the main shaft of the sprocket, another circumference of teeth or cogs is set, while between these two cogged circumferences within the sprocket are set small discs, also-cogged. Thus, when the belt sets the sprocket in motion by passing over and around its exterior circumference, the inner cogs impart the motion to the intermediate discs, which, in turn, move the cogged circumference of the main shaft.

Upon level ground the sprocket works as usual, but when a bill is reached.

the interior mechanism, and the result is that the speed is reduced and the power increased proportionately.

For example, suppose a thirty-two-inch wheel is "scared" to sixty-four inches with the "climbing attachment." the increase obtained by the gearing makes itself manifest, not in the multiplied revolutions of the driving-wheel, but in the power which makes the revolutions. Thus, a thirty-two inch wheel geared to sixty-four, loses half its speed, but the power is increased two-fold.

In teaching His disciples to pray, the Saylour, taught, that the will of the vard football team to this coast during the coming season will result successfully.

"About three months ago, at the quarterly meeting of the Cambridge alumni, the project of bringing the football eleven out here was suggested. It received the unsaimous support of the members, but the club felt that it could not afford to pay the expenses of the team, so a conference was had with the managers of the Berkeley, Stanford and Olympic teams, who agreed to take the risk and trust to make up the outlay on the match games. Saviour taught that the will of the Father was to be the same on earth as in heaven. The gospel is for everyday life. It is not to prepare men for a far-off existence, but to bring heaven into humanity. Prayer involves action, and Christian people should not pray for what they will not work for. will is to be done here, and not hereafter. He is seeking a perfect humanity here on earth. God's aim in the world is not only the redemption of humanity or individual souls, but the redemption of humanity or individual souls, but the redemption of human institutions.

The kingdom of God is not distant; it is here. Its slow development has been due to the lethargy of Christ's people. We are told to seek first the kingdom of God. Meh ask, where is it? Is it present, visible, accessible? Christ says it is at hand; it is nigh thee; it is in the midst of you. It is here, and we need but to realize its presence. Christ is here now building His kingdom. God has established three institutions—the family, the church and the State—all objects of Christian salvation and right fields of Christian salvation and right fields of Christian effort! Governments are planted by God, and should be regulated by Godly subjects. It is not enough to preach the gospel to the poor. It is the province of the church to strive to mend circumstances as well as consciences. Of what avail is it for Christian people to whine religious platitudes in the ears of those whose daily environments sugest nothing but vileness and evil?

The speaker here referred in strong language to the dens of vice in our own city. He said that the work of this church in the coming year and years is to look out on life with Christ's eyes and try to redeem this community for Him. make up the outlay on the match gamez.

The pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. F. M. Larkin, preached yesterday morning from Ecclesiastes vii, 10: "Say not, thou, what is the cause that the former days were better than these? For thou dost not inquire wisely concerning this."

It is hard for us to realize that these words were written more than three thousand years ago. But people have always been prone to imagine that the olden times were better than those in which they lived. These words were written in the time of Solomon, when the Jewish empire was at the height of its glory—the grandest time in the history of Israel; yet some, were ready to say that the former days were better than these days of peace and prosperity. And what were the former days? Immediately preceding Solomon's time were the days of David, and David's reign was full of wars, bloodshed and unrest. Before David were the days of the judges, when the Philistines and other enemies were constantly coming upon them and carrying them into bondage. Before the judges were the days in the wilderness, and before that the bondage in Egypt; and these were the "former days," which some of the Jews were longing for, even though it was their privilege to life in the golden days of Solomon. Now, some people in these days at lak as did the Jews in the time of Solomon, and profess to believe that the olden times were better than the present; but such is not the case, for at no period in the world's history has man been so far advanced, both in temporal and spiritual things, as he is today. tails until later in the day or until arriving at her destination.

Not long ago a woman, after occupying the dressing-room of a sleeping car for over an hour, was finally routed by the combined efforts of porter and conductor. On issuing from the room she greeted the assembly of indignant dames with: "Please excuse me for keeping you waiting. I was taking a bath, for I haven't seen mother in two years." The suggestion of a biennial tub for mother's benefit was absurd enough to mollify the wrath of several very impatient individuals. Borgia Streaks in Families.

(Philadelphia Times:) Few things are so remarkable as the way certain coincidences, and especially certain modes of death, run in families. The coming trial of Mrs. Mattie Shann, in Trenton, for the alleged poisoning of her son furnishes an illustration. Her husband died after a short illness, after asserting that he had been poisoned. His stomach had been troubling him for a long time. Mrs. Shann's mother was twice married, and both her husbands died suddenly, and the death of her first husband, named Dusenbury, created no little gossip. One of Mrs. Shann's sons married, and upon the sudden death of his wife testimony was presented to the grand jury accusing him of poisoning, but if a bill was found the case never came to trial. Mrs. Shann has a sister whose husband ded suddenly and was supposed to have taken poison with suicidal intent. Involved in all these cases was temporal and spiritual things, as he is today.

In general, then, we must conclude that these days are the best that the world has ever seen. Then, were the olden days better in any one particular? Some say that, in the early history of man, he was allowed to live to a greater age, and that that was an advantage; but the man of today who lives for fifty years has lived longer than one who had lived a thousand in the days of Methuselah. We must measure a man's life by deeds, not years; and, in these modern times, with the aid of modern inventions, a person can accomplish a great deal in a few years of time. But, you say the former days were better in spiritual things. But this, too, is a mistake. There never has been a time when the church was in a better spiritual condition. We who live in the golden age are near to the time when "the kingdom of this world shall become the kingdom of our God and of His Christ," and if you look carefully you cannot but see the signs of His coming, "when every knee shall bow and every tongue confess" that God is the Lord and that Jesus is Christ the Savlor.

At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. A. C. Smither, preached a missionary sermon, basing it upon Matthew xxviii, 18-20. In his introduction he touched upon the plans and projects of the world's great leaders and generals, such as Nebuchadnezzer, Caesar, Alexander, Charlemagne and Napoleon, showing them to have been insignificant in the presence of Christ's purpose to evangelize the world and bring all men into subjection to Himself. For the accomplishment of this end Hehad no money, no influence, no great friends. And in the beginning called to Himself twelve unlearned, humble men, by whom he undertook to overthrow the strongholds of sin and plant the principles of righteousness on their moldering ruins. In accomplishing this no force was applied, no lives lost, no blood shed. It will eventually be done by the power of a single truth—the Sonship of Jesus. By a force as silent, potent and pervasive as gravitation these wonders have been wrought. TEMPLE ST. CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

by the power of a single truth—the Sonship of Jesus. By a force as silent, potent and pervasive as gravitation these wonders have been wrought. A study of Christ's work and mission will reveal a few of the sources of His power. First, He deals with the individual, and enjoins individual responsibility. Society is only valuable as it affects and uplifts the individual. Again, Christianity appeals to, and is commended by, the highest intelligence of man. It is not as inexplicable that God should have created the world and man, as that they should result from chance. It is not strange that He should love man and desire that he should be free from sin and be holy like Himself. Christianity is, furthermore, adapted to man's moral, mental, social and spiritual natures. The truest morality is produced by service for Christ. The world's grandest mental achievements have been accomplished under the influence of Christ's teaching. In social life, to achieve its grandest results, Christ's divine life is indispensable. His truest spiritual nature can only be gratified, reach its acme, by union with Christ, who is the true source of all spirituality.

The world has never been so thoroughly impregnated with the missionary spirit as at the present time. Every ship that sails for foreign countries carries missionaries to the heathen, and, like lighthouses, these mission points throw their glories out upon the dark waves of sin and rescue lost souls from ruin.

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION.

At the hall of the Pacific Gospel Union on Spring street last night the usual large crowd was in attendance, reached from Matthew 8, 29. "What preached from Matthew 8, 29. "What preached from Matthew 8, 29. "What preached from Matthew 8, 29. "What have we to do with Thee, Jesus, Thou Son of God." The unregenerate world today when approached regarding salvation immediately calls out, "Let us alone, what have we to do with thee. In this city today there are almost innumerable stores that bear the mask of a cigar store. A cigar store in front and a gambling hell in the rear, behind a partition. If the men in this city who are engaged in the sale of tobacco, and are not engaged in keeping gambling dens, were wise they would unite to put down these gambling hells and enforce the law regarding gambling. But attempt to enforce that law, and immediately the cry will rise, "What have we to do with thee, let us alone." Among the most infamous and disgraceful petitions ever presented to a legislative body, and one which should bring the blush of shame to every honest man's cheek, was that petition which was presented to the Los Angeles City Council, protesting against the removal of the houses of prostitution on New High street. Why? Because saloon-keepers are selling liquor to those abandoned women, and property owners are reaping rents from the property. As soon as a movement for the help of these women is made, the cry rises from the throats of both abandoned men and women, "What have we to do with thee; let us alone." When we speak to the sinners, the same cry is raised, and when we tell them of Jesus, some scoff, but many are saved. The song service was led by an orchestix and the the sinners, the same cry is raised, and when we tell them of Jesus, some scoff, but many are saved. The song service was led by an orchestra, and the special music consisted of a violin solo by Charles Valentine, and a contralto solo by Mrs. J. B. Brown, with violin obligato by Patil Brown.

LONELINESS OF THE PACIFIC.

Four Thousand Mile Trips May Be many Without Seeing a Sail.

I notice an item in the press stating that the City of Peking in her recent trip sailed 1240 miles without meeting a single sail, and this fact is cited as showing the loneliness of the Pacific Ocean, says a writer in the Washington Star. In the summer of 1850 I left San Francisco on a sail vessel (formerly In the San Francisco on a sail vessel (formerly San Francisco on a sail vesse 4000 miles, and on the entire reate, which lasted forty-three days, we never saw a sail! Loneliness is no word for it, especially when we lay becalmed in the tropics, with our vessel floating as helplessly about as a chip on a mill pond, the ground swells keeping up the monotonous roll of the vessel from side to side all and night and day after day, each roll being accompanied by a flar each roll being accompanied by a flap of the sails and a creaking of the rig-ging that might have passed for the flap of the winds and the wail of lost flap of the winds and the wait of lost spirits. When we read about Noah and his ark we are apt to think that he must have had rather a lonely time, but then he was out only forty days, and, besides, with all the animals, etc., on board, he had plenty to occupy his time and attention, and if he wanted amusement to wile away the time had only board, he had plenty to occupy his time and attention, and if he wainted amusement to wile away the time he had only to start a sparring match between his monkeys and parrots. True, there is no report of any such proceeding on his part, but that is doubtless because there was no modern newspaper reporter on board. I tell you, a man can't realize what loneliness or comfort is

In the simple morning dress of the ordinary civilian, without ribbon, or medal, or other decoration on his breast, with nothing in his garb to distinguish him from other men, this ruler of more than three score million men stood out in instructive contrast to the brilliantly-uniformed representatives of European royalty behind him. It was an object lesson which could hardly be lost on the hundreds present from monarchical States.

"ABOUT THE NEWS."

Few Words About a Boastful Contemporary's Lighte Deception.
Under the deceptive caption of "About News," there has appeared of late, at stated intervals, in the columns of the Second-street contemporary, a some-Second-street contemporary, a somewhat amusing resume of the alleged "exclusive" articles, paragraphs, and line items, which the journal referred to has published during the intervening periods. The idea, presumably, is to endeavor to create the impression among the Herald's readers that they habitually obtain from its columns an extraordinary amount of reading matter in excess of that published in The Times. In this resume, a space of ter in excess of that published in The Times. In this resume, a space of nearly half a column is always filled with the titles of alleged "scoop." To be sure, it has been necessary for the compiler to resurrect "space-filling" items, such as that telling how "fiend" Burke slept after taking his usual dose of morphine, describing in detail the manner of bathing adopted by an eccentric sailor and many other detail the manner of bathing adopted by an eccentric sailor, and many other such notes of like momentous importance, in order to make the measure fill out; but at any rate it was all there, even though the task must have proven a difficult one. It is not the purpose of The Times to take any wind out of its contemporary's sails, for the Lord knows it needs all it can ge;, nor rob the Herald's readers of any delusion they may be laboring under from readthey may be laboring under from read ing its boastful claims of news superior-ity, but, under the circumstances, it is ity, but, under the circumstances, it is the correct thing to report the follow-ing head-lines of a few of the notable articles of newspublished in The Times during the week just closed which the Herald's energetic staff failed to "get

STREET RAILWAYS.

Preparing to Consolidate the Cable and Electric Systems.

In case there is no hitch in the plans, the consolidation of the cable and electric roads is not far distant. Of course, nothing can be done until the formality of the foreclosure sale is carried out, but the electric people evi-dently consider that there is no possidenty consider that there is no possi-bility of the cable road passing out of their hands, and are making their plaps accordingly. It will be remem-bered that when the fight between the rival companies became so hot that the bankruptey of both corporations was not beyond the range of possibilities, the capitalists interested determined

Grover Cleveland, Citizen.

(From "An Englishman's Impressions at the Fair," July Review of Reviews:) Making allowance for this peculiarity in cheering, no royal personage could have been more rapturously received than was the plain citizen, Grover Cleveland. purchase by the Treasury Department, monthly, of four and a half million ounces of silver instead of $2,000,000 worth, as under the act of 1878, pay-ment to be made at the market price in legal tender notes. The act required the coinage into silver dollars, monthly, un-the Treasury. A clause was inserted by Schator Sherman declaring that it is the "established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the pres provided by law."

There has been purchased, under th operations of this law, from August 13, 1890, to June 1, 1893, 152,413,792 ounces coinage of silver money, and those countries have been making strenuous efforts to place themselves on the gold standard, and to obtain the gold for that purpose, this country has been do-ing everything to drive the gold from our shores, by forcing silver currency into the channels of trade and piling up silver bars in the treasury. From May, 1888, to June, 1893, we have sent abroad $328,000,000 of gold. During the same period the imports of gold have the fact that while in 1891 and 1892 th balance of merchandise trade was in

The Silver Ouestion.

The popular idea among silver-tongued extremists of the Denver type seems to be that the United States overnment, influenced by bribery from English emissaries and Wall street millionaires, has clandestinely demone-tized silver, and thus lowered the value of silver bullion, contracted the circulating medium and brought upon the ountry a general lack of confidence financial disturbance.

relating to silver for the past eighty or ninety years, and a showing of the results of that legislation, does not sus-tain this Colorado clamor about some dark crime having been committed in demonetizing silver.

The Hon, Edward O. Leech, late Director of the Mint, in the July number of the North American Review, gives ome statistics that may be a surprise to many who indulge in loose talk bout Congress degrading silver.

The first coinage act, in 1792, authorized the unrestricted mintage of gold silver, proportioned as 1 to 15. resulted in the exportation of gold for foreign commodities, as gold coin was undervalued, and for-eign creditors eagerly took it at its real value as pure gold bullion. To edy this, in 1834 the quantity of gold in the dollar was reduced the ratio in coinage was fixed at 1 to 15.988. Silver was here undervalued, and hence was shipped abroad. As a nce, from 1834 to 1878, gold constituted our only metallic currency.

The entire coinage of silver dollars from 1792 to 1873 amounted to only 8,031,238 pieces, none of which were in circulation. In 1873 Congress abolished the silver dollar, and gold was made the sole standard of value. At that time we had exclusively a paper circulation, the depreciation of which was measured by gold. In discontinuing the coinage of the silver dollar in 1873, it was claimed that Congress simply recognized an existing fact by dropping a coin which had cut no figure in our circulating medium for near

If the demonetization of silver had not taken place in 1873, it is claimed that it must necessarily have taken place a few years later, when the European countries, one after another, abolished silver coinage, or else this country would have resumed specie payments in 1879 on a silver instead of on a gold basis. In 1873 Germany commenced the demonetization of silver by the melting down and sale of silver coins equal in value to $257,454,000, which was followed by the States of the Latin union. One after another the Euronean States had closed their mints to silver coinage, until in 1878 not a single mint in Europe was open for the coinage of silver for individuals.

The situation abroad at this period was certainly not propitious for silver. yet at this juncture (1878,) the House Representatives passed a bill for the free coinage of silver dollars. It was amended in the Senate, and finally enacted into a law over a Presidential veto, by which the coinage of the sildollar, with full debt-paying power, was restored-not for individuals, as prior to 1873-but on government account. The law required the mandatory purchase and coinage. monthly, of not less than $2,000,000 nor more than $4,000,000 worth of silver bullion, with a provision authorizing the issue of paper certificates in sums of $10 and less in lieu of the coin.

The purchase of silver under this act aggregated 291,292,019 ounces, at a cost of $308,190,262, from which there was coined and issued in actual silver do lars and paper certificates representing the same, $378,166,795. The government paid the expense of tropsporting these dollars from the or treasury offices to the banks other point where they were wanted. But the great bulk of them returned to the treasury. Various devices were resorted to to promote their circulation, such as disc ntinuing the issue of legal tender notes of denominations less than $5; by receiving deposits of gold coin and legal tender notes in exchange for silver certificates at distant points, thus saving the cost act of August 4, 1886, authorizing the issue of silver certificates in denomi tions of $2 and $5, thus replacing the large certificates objected to by the banks and general public by certificates

Thus, by mandatory force of law, during a period of twelve years, between February 1, 1878, when we had no silver currency, and July 1, 1890, there had been injected into the circulation of this country three hundred and fiftyfour millions of silver dollars and their paper representatives.

But, notwithstanding this vast absomption of silver, by our government for currency purposes, the market price of silver had fallen from $1.20½ an ounce on February 28, 1878, to 92 cents an cunce on May 29, 1889. Meantime the value of silver in the dollar had declined from 93 cents to 71 cents.

On June 17, 1890, the Senate of the United States, by a vote of 42 year to 25 nays, passed a bill for the unre-stricted coinage of silver for individuals to some if he had brought along his

A Great Tornado Year.

Throughout Minnesota, Iowa and other points of the Northwest there were remarkable displays of the aurora borealis on Saturday. They were pre-ceded by an electrical storm which almost brought to a standstill the tele graphic service of the country.

The National Weather Bureau re cently issued a circular showing that this was one of the greatest tornade years on record. The statistics showed that in the country east of the Rocky Mountains not less than 170 persons had been killed in tornadoes July 8.

It is a new idea, but why not practical? A farmer down in Central Illinois tried the experiment of using wheat instead of corn to fatten hogs. with the result that he realized $1.01 per hushel for his wheat thus translated into pork. It has been tried by North Dakota farmers with the same satisfactory result. They sold their hogs at a price which realized them over $1 per bushel for the wheat which had been condensed in a more saleable article. It said that the quality of the pork thus ced is superior to that of the corn animals. Why not put cheap fed animals. Why not put chear wheat into hogs instead of into ele vators, and make a specialty of wheat fed pork in the Eastern markets?

AGE AND OCCUPATION.

The Man Who Works Hard Almost Always Outlives the idler.

(London Spectator:) It is true, no loubt, that there are men without intellectual occupations who live long in right of constitutions without weak places in them, and true, also, that freedom from anxiety of itself is favor able to longevity; but, to judge from the scene around us, no antiseptic, no preservative against decay, is quite equal to occupation which requires steady tax upon the brain. Number of these "ancient men," too, can still walk, ride, tricycle, bowl in a way their walk, ride, tricycle, bowl in a way their sons can only just surpass, and exhibit a degree of physical health which makes one wonder why insurance offices should accept them for annuities, or why experienced surgeons should whisper that after 75 the scientific "expectations of life" may be calculated by days. We do not hesitate to say if brain-power were hereditary, a race of men living for ages by intellectual occupation alone would radically modify all theories as to the expectation of life; would add to it, that is, by at least ten solid years.

inving for ages by intellectual occupation alone would radically modify all theories as to the expectation of life; would add to it, that is, by at least ten solid years.

Nor is it impossible to guess with at least some approach to conviction at the physical cause of the longevity often displayed by the intellectual, if physically they are fairly sound. No proposition is more fully established than this—that use, within certain limits of moderation, strengthens instead of weakens the faculty used. The gamekeeper who walks all day can walk at 70 better than any sedentary man; hunting-men, though they lose their nerve, never lose the muscles which control a horse; and a gardener of 70 will dig without fatigue, while his employer of 55 gives in. It is said, on good evidence, that a Japanese dentist can train his fingers to pluck out teeth without instruments; and even the eyes can be made, by habit, abnormally strong. Dr. Brudenell Carter, in an admirable paper on this subject, proved that the popular notion about "use" destroying the eyes was a pure fallacy, journeymen watchmakers using their magnifying glasses—faxed, remember, not in both eyes, but in one of them, for forty years consecutively without appreciable injury or decay of visual power. "Training," it is true, often exhausts force; but that is because we train in athletics not to improve the normal strength for normal exertion, but to obtain abnormal power for a short abnormal effort, sometimes too great for the springs of life to bear. Use is the great preservative, not destroyer, of strength, and the use of the brain protects and develops the nerve-power and placed by the fine in the lectual occupations more or less possess, of sleeping nearly at will, and without torpor. You may see some judges do it every day and with the most singular suddenness, not only the intellect, but also the sense of hearing, seeming to be suspended by an act of pure volition. The man who has used his brain all his life, say for lik hours a day, has, in fact, trained his n which makes so many apparently healthy men succumb so readily to atacks of disease. Doctors know the differences among men in this respect quite well, and many of them acknowledge that the "habit of surviving" which they find in their best patients arises from two causes one thanks of the surviving that is a size of the surviving that it is the surviving the surviving the surviving the surviving the survivion that the surv tients arises from two causes—one which used to be always pleaded, being that soundness of physical constitution which some men enjoy by hereditary right, and the other, some recondite form of brain power, seldom exhibited, except under strong excitement, by any but there whe theoretical life have been seldom that the content of the strong excitement. except under strong excitement, by any but those who throughout life have been compelled to think, and, so to speak, use their thoughts as other men use their ligaments and muscles. If such a man is tired of life, medicine will not save him: but, as a rule, his will, consciously or unconsciously, compels the trained nerve power to struggle on. Whether the brain can actually give power to the muscles is not certain, though the enormous strength sometimes developed in a last rally looks very like it; but that it can materially affect vitality is quite certain, and has been acknowledged by the experienced in all ages.

It Never Varied a Second.

(Cincinnati Commercial Gazette:) As they passed the City Hall they all pulled out their watches to compare them with the municipal time. The Prince Hill man slipped his hunting case into his pocket again and remarked: "You may say what you please about fine time pleces, but I've got a cheap clock up at the house that I bought it to this."

"What?" panted the crowd.

"That's right—I bought it twenty years ago for $3, took it home placed it on the mantel, set its hands and wound it up—and from that day to this it has never varied a second."

"Stucendous"."

"Wonderful!"
"Stupendous!"
"Amazing!"
"Not a second?"

"No, sir, not a second," said the man from Prince Hill. "The main spring broke when I wound it up, and it has never varied a second from that in-stant."

It was surprising the number of cl-gars he got out of that crowd.

J. 8 Clarkson last evening by the Union League drew to the clubrooms on League drew to the League drew to the cultorouns to Geary street a large contingent of white-necktied Republicans. I am in formed that it is the only Republica gathering in this city since the heav-snowfall last November that has exhit ited any enthusiasm. It was mentioned as a notable contrast to the cold and formal reception tendered ex-Post-master-General Wanamaker when he was here. A Republican physician enwas here. A Republican physician en-gaged in making a diagnosis of the condition of his alling party could learn condition of his alling party could learn something by heeding these pulse-beats. And, if he happened to be so dull that he could not note the symptoms and inter-pret them for himself, he might have obtained a diagnosis ready made by listening to the eloquent address of Gen. Barnes. The general spoke very Gen. Barnes. The general spoke very frankly, in the confidence of the family circle, as it were. He said he knew he could depend upon his friends, the reporters, not to say anything about it. And, strange to say, they didn't—at least the reporters of the Chronicle and Call did not. In dishing up their morning repast they left both the milk and the meat of the coconnut out, and gave to the milk only the hard shell and Call did not. In dishing up their morning repast they left both the milk and the meat of the cocoanut out, and gave to the public only the hard shell and the fibrous shuck. If the ovation to Gen. Clarkson meant anything it meant a memorial rally of the friends of James G Blaine to testify their appreciation of Blaine's closest political friend, and to reaffirm the principles upon which the Old Guard fought so long and so well. This point was emphasized by Samuel M. Shortridge, the president of the club, who acted as master of ceremonies, and whose every allusion to Blaine elicited a storm of applause. It was doubly emphasized by Gen. Barnes, who made the speech of the evening in response to Gen. Clarkson's remarks. Barnes not only dwelt long and earnestiy upon the attachment which Pacific Coast Republicans had for the Flumed Knight, and now retains for his memeory, but he went directly to the heart of the dis-

"If you want to know the cause of our defeat last November," he said "I have no objection to telling you, in the strict privacy of the family circle. The Republican party, like other human organizations, is subject to every sort of human allment. Last campaign we had an attack of the chills. If the result of that election meant anything, it meant a protest against machine rule in politics. Mr Cleveland had arrayed against him every machine politician in the Democratic party. But he was nominated and elected. Mr. Harrison had on his side every machine politician in the Republican party. He was nominated and defeated. But the Republican party will never make such a mistake as that again—at least not for a great many years. Our next standard-bearer will represent the choice of the whole party, not the favorite of the office-holders."

This sentiment brought forth a perfect spasm of hand-clapping.

And it was such toothsome talk as this that the Chronicle carefully excised from its report of the reception. But then the proprietor of the Chronicle is in politics himself, and his present policy is to promote harmony with a big D. The Times would have reported Gen. Barnes's speech in quite a different fashion—in fact, would have given its

Gen. Clarkson intends to visit Los Angeles, and, I am told, will go down about the middle of next week. The representative Republicans of our city ought to bestir themselves and give him a cordial reception. No doubt they will:

There is quite a colony of old-time Los Angeles people who have taken up their residence in San Francisco. Frank Kelly is practicing law. Senator Carpenter is practicing railroad. W. G. Miller, formerly of the Times staff, is reporting on the Call. Percy Fennimore, an all-around Los Angeles newspaper, man, is on the Examiner. Statesman Hervey Lindley has been in town about a week, and is domiciled at the Palace. I am not informed of the main object of his visit, and perhaps I would not give it away if I knew. Certainly it is not to urge his candidacy for the United States Senatorship, for Mr. Lindley is out of politics. He has said so himself, thereby confirming the verdict of the voters of the Sixth District, which needed inconfirmation. One of the side objects of Mr. Lindley's coming, however, has cropped out. He made it his first business on arrival to distribute copies of the Farmer and Labor Review (a local Los Angeles weekly which appears to "labor" for revenue only,) containing its virulent attack on I. W. Hellman and the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, among the principal banks of San Francisco. This he followed up by getting himself interviewed by reporters of the city papers with the idea of carrying the war into their columns. Strange to say, these interviews all died a-bornin'. The big San Francisco dailies are not going five hundred miles from home to pick up-controversies of that sort. They have rows enough of their own on hand. Mr. Hellman stands too high in financial circles here to be prejudiced by any such ill-grounded and palpably malicious attacks, and the effort will find no more encouragement from the bankers than it does from the reputable press. If the charges are reproduced here, they will be published by some blackmailing sheet for coin.

curbatone convention. The impression seems to be that Irwin C. Stump, late chairman of the State Committee, can have the appointment if he wants it. But the knowing ones say that he cannot afford to take it. He enjoys the plump emolument of $24.000 a year from the Hearst estate, besides other large fees, which he is not justified in sacrificing for the short-term Senatorial salvry and honors. The one most favorably mentioned next to him is M. H. de Young of the Chronicle. M. M. Estee seems to be third on the list. The knowing ones say it lies between these three. There are, of course, any number of dark horses, most prominent of whom is Irving M. Scott, the shipbuilder. W. H. Mills may also be in the race. (He is "not in it." by his own declaration.—Ed. Times.) The friends of Gen. Eli H. Murray of San Diego are trying to push him for the position. But San Diego is a long way off., and Southern California has one of the Senatorships now. Maj. Bonebrake's name is, however, mentioned frequently, and it is known that he has long-standing and peculiarly strong claims upon the Governor, of whom he was an early and earnest supporter in all his political aspirations.

A funny story reached my ear yesterday, and it was told me by a prominent State official. He said the Governor had communicated to Messrs. Stump, De Young and Estee that the choice lay between them, if they could come to a mutual understanding about the matter. My informant said they had been in conference up to 12 o'clock the preceding night, but without reaching an agreement. This story may be taken for what it is worth. If it is true, the Governor is to be compilmented on his labor-saving device to make the Senatorial candidates umpire their own game.

DISCUSSING THE OUESTION.

Views of Politicians—Mr. de Young Interviewed at Length.

All over the State interest is increasing in the question as to who will succeed the late Leland Stanford as United States Senator from California. It is generally understood that Gov. Markham will make the appointment Markham will make the appointment by August 1, and for some days past but little else has been talked of among the politicians. In the gossip almost every prominent Republican in the vicinity of San Francisco has been mentioned. A few days ago the San Francisco Examiner's Sacramento cor-respondent telegraphed his paper that the Governor had narowed his choice to Francisco Examiner and the Governor had narowed his choice to W. H. Mills and M. H. de Young, which news was followed almost immediately by the withdrawal of Mr. Mills. Since this time politicians all over the State have been discussing this latest phase of the situation.

The Examiner of Saturday contains a number of interviews with politicians on the subject. Paris Kilbourn, M. M. Estee and D. M. Burns were noncommittal and diplomatic. Hervey a number of interviews with politicians on the subject. Paris Kilbourn, M. M. Estee and D. M. Burns were noncommittal and diplomatic. Hervey Lindley and Senator R. B. Capenter, who are now in San Francisco, are positive the Governor will not appoint De Young, and are offering to back their judgment. Mr. De Young was also interviewed, the result of which is given as follows:

"The man who is expected to succeed Senator Stanford was found in the office of the Mills building that has been set apart for the use of the President of the Midwinter Fair. For a short time he made an effort to turn the conversation into other channels. He spoke of the work of the fair and paid himself a first-class compliment for the remarkable speed with which he had selected a desk for the President's office and picked out an ecru and emerald colored carpet for the President's feet to trample on. His pride in the desk was quite excusable, for it is really a gorgeous affair, and it the rest of the fair is planned on the same scale of magnificence as that desk, oriental imagery will not suffice to paint its wondrous glories. But one could not talk forever about the selection of a desk beautiful as that desk is and the laying down of a yellow and green carpet, and in a short time the Senatorship came up again for discussion.

"Would Mr. De Young accept the place if it was offered him?"

"Mr. de Young would accept it. In fact, not to put too fine a point on the way he expressed himself, he could almost be induced to walk across the street to ask it from Markham. He said:

"I would like the place very much and hone that I will be apported hut."

street to ask it from Markham. He said:

"I would like the place very much and hope that I will be appointed, but I do not know anything about it."

"It was suggested that, having accumulated some wealth, he would like the office of United States Senator for the social and political distinction it would confer on him. This view of the case was mildly deprecated by Mr. de Young. It seemed to strike him as scarcely doing justice to his public spirit and disinterestedness. He said:

"I would like to get the opportunity to be Senator that I might do something for the State. Unless there was the expectation of accomplishing something, the office would have no attractions for me."

"If Mr. Markham makes you Senator how do you intend to vote on the Central Pacific Refunding Bill?" he was

'I cannot answer that,' was Mr. de

"Do you mean to say that you have not considered a question of so much importance to the country as that? Surely, as the editor of a newspaper, you must have made up your mind on that subject?"

"I must refuse to answer that question, repeated De Young. 'You see I have not been appointed, and cannot answer any questions."

"Do you wish your opinion on that matter kept a secret at this time?"

"Mr. de Young would only say that he declined to talk about what his policy would be if appointed.

"When questioned about the efforts made by himself or his friends to induce. Markham to appoint him, he wisnot at all reticent. It is statement with the control of the property of the control of the property had but one political agent, and that is Frank. Stone. When I asked George.

the capital and had a talk with Gov. Markham."

The San Francisco Evening Post, discussing, after paying a high tribute to Irwin C. Stump and M. de Young, the Senatorial question, says editorially:

"Mr. de Young was opposed to Gov. Markham, who is now in position to confer the office of United States Senator on a Californian; Mr. Stump was the political manager of the Governor and did more to elect him than any other man in the State; he gave his time, spent his money, and made him, an unknown man, victorious over the most formidable candidate the Democratic party ever nominated for defeat. Mr. Stump was the Governor's friend, active, zble, persevering, successful; he gave to Mr. Markham the position he now has. Will the Governor forget him? Is there any compact justifiable that suggests that gratitude is the appreciation we have for favors yet to come?"

FOR DE YOUNG.

The Stockton Mail, in an editorial eulogizing Mr. de Young, says:

"As Senator he would be the same enthusiastic Californian that he has always been; and then he is on the right side of the money question, as indicated by the expressions of his newspaper, the Chronicle. He is on the right side because he is on the people's side. The money question is the biggest question before the country today or that is likely to arise during the ensuing two years. De Young is the best ope of 'them all for Senator, now that Mills is out of the way."

THE PLEDGE TO MAJ. BONEBRAKE. Gov. Markham Promised to Mate Him United States Senator

The PLEDGE TO MAJ. BONEBRAKE.

Gov. Markham Promised to Make Him United States Senator.

In this city the statement that Mr. de Young had been dedded upon by the Governor for United States Senator was in the natury of a complete surprise and was not generally credited. It has long beer known privately among a number of gentlemen in this city that the Governor had promised the position to a Los Angeles man. That man is Maj. George H. Bonebrake. Maj. Bonebrake has been one of the most steadfast and loyal of the personal and political friends of Gov. Markham in the State. He gave him his earnest support for Congress, and was one of the potent factors in securing his election. During the gubernatorial race Maj. Bonebrake was one of the Governor's most trusted advisors and counselors, and their relations were of the most intimate character. That Gov. Markham appreciated Maj Bonebrake's services there is no doubt. The Times has learned from the highest sources that the Governor unequivocally promised Bonebrake the appointment of United States Senator in case of a vacancy; there was absolutely no reservation in regard to the matter; that it was a straightforward pledge, and was so understood by the Governor and by Maj. Bonebrake and his friends. It has been further ascertained that this pledge has been reiterated within the past four months, and that this fact can be substantiated by personal friends of both Maj. Bonebrake and Gov. Markham. In view of these facts, which have been, as above stated, long an open secret, it is not surprising that the statement that another man had been decided upon was discredited in this section of the State. The feeling here is that, were there no personal promises in the way of making a San Francisco selection, the appointment would naturally go in that direction. This is conceded, for the reason that the other Senator; is a Southern California man. But in view of the Feling here is that, were there no personal promises in the way of making a San Francisco selection, the appointment w

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.-(By the Associated Press.) Gov. Markham spent the day at the Palace liotel and received a large number of callers. Many came to see about the Senatorship and to learn, if possible, the Governor's intentions relative fo filling the vacancy caused by the feath of the late Senator Stanford.

To a reporter the Governor said: "My mind is not made up, and I do not expect it will be for some days yet. If any one has got the inpression that I now know whom I shill appoint, I declare to you that he has made a mistake. I know the situation here and at Washington as well as any one, and I know that the best I can do for the State is nothing less than the State expects from me. This appointment will be made as all others have been made by me, without my thought of personal interest."

DUCATS FOR A DUKE.

Financial Rule Stares the Duke of Veragua in the Face.

(Chicago Tribune, July 1:) Financial ruin starzs the Duke of Veragua in the face. Late the honored guest of the government, he has returned to Spalin to find that his ancestral palace, his art gallers; and even his stock farm, most dearly prized of all, are in danger of being sold at a sacritice to satisfy creditors. From a fortune of $500,000, which means more in Spain than it does in this country, the Duke found his property so badly involved that, anless some aid comes to him, he will be left some aid comes to him, he will be left practically penniless.

When the news came to many friends made by the ducal party during their stay in this country, it aroused the livilest feelings of regret. One of the first to whom the information came was President Thomas W. Palmer, of the National Commission. Being practical, President Palmer did more than merely regret.

"Shall we see the descendant of the great Columbus bankrupt in the year "Shall we see the descendant of the great Columbus bankrupt in the year of the Columbian festivities?" he thought to himself. Then he answered the question in the negative. Afterward several consultations were held with prominent citizens of Chicago and New York, and it has been decided to raise a large fund by popular subscription, which will be invested in United States bonds and put in trust for the benefit of the Dake and his children after him. An appeal will be sent out.

States bonds and put in trust for the benefit of the Dake and his children after him. An appeal will be sent out in a few days, not only to citizens of the United States; but to those of South 'America and the West Indies as well. They will be asked, as a graceful tribute to the memory of the great discoverer, to contribute of their plenty to the end that his descendants may not be hounded by the importunate creditors, as was the admiral himself.

President Palmer said last evening that as yet the plans for raising the fund were not yet completed, nor had it been decided what amount they should attempt to raise. For the present he has consented to act as chalmans of the Fund Committee, and will receive and acknowledge-all contributions.

The plan meets with the hearty approval of Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Commissioner-General.

"It would certainly be a very graceful thing," he said yesterday. "While the Duke of Veragua was never an extremely rich man, he has always been able to command all the comforts and most of the luxuries of life. About a year ago he lost several pensions which had swelled his income, and recently his entire personal fortune, which he had intrusted to a friend, who played him false, has been swept away. I am afraid that his entire estate will be soid if something is not done for him. The appeal which it is proposed to issue will meet, I am sure, with the heartiest response possible from South America and the West Indies, as well as from this country. It may not be generally known, but it is, the fact, that the Duke of Veragua made a considerabe sacrifice in coming to this country. It is true that he was the guest of the nation, and that he was royally entertained at no expense to himself, but at the same time the more money the Duke felt obliged to spend. I am sorry, indeed, that a descendant of the great Columbus, in this Columbian year, should meet with financial embarrassment."

CRIMINAL LIBEL.

orge D. Blake Arrested on Comple Hugh J. and William Crawford-The Letter Containing the Libel.

Late Saturday afternoon George D. slake, a young attorney, having offices a the Fulton Block, was arrested on a harge of criminal libel, the compaints being the attorneys Hugh J. and villiam Crawford. Mr. Blake was aken before Justice Bartholomew where e gave bonds in $3000 and was rerased.

The alleged libel consists of a letter written by Blake to one of the Crawrritten by Blake to one of the Craword's clients in Philadelphia, and is a emarkable production to say the least.
The letter was promptly returned to the Messrs. Crawford by the person to whom it was addressed, and when Blake refused to make a retraction the complaint for libel was sworn. Mr.
Crawford says that he and his brother will not only push the case in the courts, but will make an effort to have Mr. Blake disbarred, in order that all the facts may be brought out. The letter on which the suit is brought is as

LOS ANGELES (Cal.,) June 19, 1893.

Mr. Herman F. Voigt, 718 South Seventh street, Philadelphia, Pa.—My Dear Sir: I am the attorney for your wife, Adolphine Voigt, who has instituted a suit against you in the court here. Inclosed you will ind a copy of the complaint, which will explain the nature of the suit. At the time the suit was commenced (June 13 inst..) I attached the note and and mortgage made by Buehler to your sister, Mrs. Koberstein, in the hands of Crawford & Crawford, your attorneys, and J. J. Buehler. Bugh Crawford admitted to the Sheriff that the note and mortgage really belonged to you, and promised to give it up, but has since refused, and stated to the Sheriff that he holds it as security for money that you or Mrs. Koberstein owe him. Of course, that won't work, but if you are not very careful we will make it work with you, and make you liable to him for a debt you do not owe.

I dislike very much to say anything against another lawyer, but knowing the feet of the suit. At the first of which was, "What is a missionary?" and the answer. "One sent to teach the heathen." Mrs. Koberstein owe him. Of course, that won't work, but if you are not very careful we will make it work with you, and make you liable to him for a debt you do not owe. I dislike very much to say anything against another lawyer, but knowing the facts in this matter as I do from beginning to end, I. e., from 1887 until now, and Crawford & Crawford's connection with it, I do not hesitate to say to you that they are absolutely no good as lawyers or as men. Their reputation here among the good lawyers of Loo Angelee is that of Police Court shysters. I am inclined to think that if you had gone to a good lawyer when you came out here from New York you would not have had the trouble that is now coming to you. Of course it is nothing to me in one sense who you employ, but it is to your interest more than to Mrs. Voigt's that you settle with her in some way. If you have such lawyers(i) as Crawford & Crawford to represent you and advise you you will not settle it, but for the sake of the money they can get out of you from time to time they will keep it in court as long as possible, and after they get all the money they can and you are beaten at every turn in court (as you surely must be if you do not you will not yourself in a much worse fix than you would be to settle now with her—understand me plainly—I say that it will save us much trouble if you settle now, but if you don't it will cost you a hundred times more trouble, to say nothing of expense, than it will us, and you will regret to your dying day that you did not do so.

I am not endeavoring to scare you, and I don't suppose I could if I wanted to, but for my client's sake I ask you to go to some good, shonest lawyer (the Craw fords are neither) in Philadelphia—go to one of the judges of the Superior, Circuit or Common Pleas courts there and he will refer you to get majestrate, and if you wantsome one here, I refer you to S. M. White, who is some of the United States senators from this State; to Judge Bickneil, his former partner; to Chapman & Henolrick, or Judg we will use him as a witness. We have letters from Crawford & Grawford with the better for you to set will be embodied by the Sheriff in his return tomorrow.

Now, wouldn't if be better for you to set the it all up together; Everything that far has, through their dense ignorance, been dead against you. Do you want to have them act for you any longer? It is a hundred times more to your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than now, but it is not for your interest than the property of the property of

A MODERN MIRACLE

Marvelous Case of Divine Healing.

The Lord Speaks as of Old on Galilee.

His Voice. Faith in Jesus Makes Her Whole-A Helpless

Cripple for Years-She is Suddenly Strength.

The Gospel Tabernacle, which meets in Temperance Temple Hall, was the scene of an unusual spectacle yester-day morning. At 11 o'clock a woman, who has been a resident of Los Angeles for a number of years, and who is well known to many citizens; a woman who for thirteen years has been a sufferer, who for four years has not stepped but with a crutch, and who for years and three months has never until a week ago left her bed but to be lifted, entered the church unaided, and with a firm step walked up the aisle and addressed the congregation. The woman was Mrs. Ada U. Walton Casco street, and her healing from illness, which had apparently brought her very near to death's door, was instantaneous. Her total recovery to perfect health was worked in less than fif-

To hear from her own lips Mfs. Walton's story of her cure, one would say that the age of miracles had not yet passed. Still, Mrs. Walton would say that there was no miracle. "The Lord was present and He healed me." That

MRS. WALTON'S HISTORY. Mrs. Walton is 39 years of age, of pleasing address, modest and thoroughly womanly in manner, with a good command of language and a direct and carnest form of speech that wins at-tention. She is a thinking woman, a reasoning woman, and her own recital has weight.

Both from Mrs. Walton and from a host of reliable friends it is gleaned that for thirteen years she had been an invalid, and much of that time a cripple. At that date she sustained a double fracture of her left leg, it being broken at the thigh and above the ankle. Arising from the fractures and the fall which caused them, a tumor the fall which caused them, a tumor the fall which caused them, a tumor the fall which caused them, a fall which caused them, a fall what followed can hardly be described and the fall which caused them, a tumor developed, which, in the course of years, became very distressing. She developed, which, in the course of years, became very distressing. She tried medicines, she sought relief from doctors, she changed climate, and journeyed even as far as California and back to the East, but attained no permanent relief. In 1887, in Sacramento, she was thrown from a street car and her leg was again broken in the same the ankle, so deep that one's finger could easily be laid in it. After a time she became relieved of her tumor, but was attacked with hemorrhages most a prisoner on her bed. Her great chair stood near, and into this she was lifted by attendants and for a time was wheeled to her meals, but there have been weeks and months when it was impossible to lift her. Indeed, during the past thirteen years eight of HEALING THROUGH FAITH. When 13 years of age Mrs. Walton was baptized and became a member of the Episcopal Church. She was not particularly devout. She read her Bible, as a Christian weman does, and she found great comfort in it. Gradually certain portions of it began to fasten pondered over them. The idea of healing entirely through faith was coming to her, entirely unsought; she had never met a person so healed, but it was seeming to her more and more possible that healing might be wrought. For a year, the faith that she was one day to receive this divine healing has been present with her. She did not know when or how it would be accomplished; she only believed that it would come. Later, as the news of her belief was communicated, praying men and women and those who have experi-enced healing began to call upon her. Some believed that she would be healed; more believed that death would vlaim her.

One psalm in particular comforted her during this trial, and upon a portion of it she dwelt almost constantly, repeating it over and over: "Who forgiveth all thine iniquities, who healeth all thy diseases, who redeemeth thy life from destruction." She was consecrating herself to God, the Divine Healer, the Great Physician. But the hard part of the consecration was to learn to say, "Work thy will in me." She wanted to be healed, and it was hard to say that the Lord should keep her a cripple all her life if He so willed. To her mind it was this which has, in a measure, hindered earlier restoration.

Many now visited Mrs. Walton all. And a Los Angeles Woman Hears Many now visited Mrs. Walton al-mest daily, and were familiar with her physical condition. Her limb was color-less, cold, rigid, as nearly as possible resembling death. There seemed no more healthy action in it than in the limb of a corpse. Her foot was frightfully distorted, swollen, with the toes and the attendant at first believed, when Mrs. Walton arose that she was a when Mrs. Walton arose that she was a when Mrs. Walton arose that she was the semedal. bent directly underneath, so it seemed impossible to relax them without breaking. For three weeks she has been unusually ill, much of the time unable to be propped up in her bed. Her friends re not so sanguine as she, and when prayers were recently requested for her one of her neighbors declined to pray, "Why will you not pray for Mrs. Wal-ton, mamma?" a little daughter asked. And the mother's answer was, "Because I cannot pray for her with her leg on." Mrs. Walton, however, kept her faith. She knew that in good time something was coming.

"THE VOICE OF THE LORD."

One week ago yesterday she was assing the day as usual upon her bed. passing the day as usual upon her bed. The previous night had been one of extreme suffering. Her face was drawn with lines that agony had marked. Her husband was with her, and an attendant who had waited upon her for a year, and a friend was calling on the family. Mrs. Watton way that the family. Mrs. Walton says that she felt that for twenty-four hours her family. Mrs. Walton says that she felt that for twenty-four hours her faith had been assailed as never before. Her attendant examined the diseased limb frequently, and it was apparently as lifeless as marble. The friend looked at the foot and saw how rigid it seemed. Presently all passed into another room, and the invalid was left alone. It was about fifteen minleft alone. It was about fifteen minutes before 3 o'clock, in the afternoon Suddenly, with nothing to warn her of the immediate change, a great calm came over her, like nothing she had ever known. Every particle of pain was gone, and it was as if she was entirely wrapped in peace. And then a voice sounded, as plain as cribed. The healed woman called, and husband, friend and attendant came hurrying in. She asked for her wrappereand when they would have assisted her she motioned them back. She says it seemed to her that she could not hurry fast enough. She swung herself out of bed, she steed places, with another break of the bones of the ankle and also of those of the top of the foot. She was now a cripple, and for several years could only walk by the use of a crutch and cane. Being ambitious she naturally overtaxed the knitting bones and the ankle was badly overstrained, so that, until a week ago, a ridge at the point where the bones came together extended entirely around the ankle, so deep that one's finger of all in her presence. She walked un-aided across the room and into the dining-room, which she had not endiang-room, which she had not en-tered since Christmas, when she was carried there in her chair. She was the only calm one at the table. On Wed-nesday she walked unattended down a flight of five steps, without faltering: and yesterday she walked alone to the and yesterday she walked alone to the carriage, entered it without help, which she had not done for, thirteen years, ascended the church steps, and afterward walked some distance down Temple street at the close of service, without detriment or apparent fatigue. She claims that she is perfectly well; that she is wholly healed and as strong as ever: that she has "touched Jesus." At the close of Mrs. Walton's exper-ience and the pastor's words the fol-lowing members of the large congre-gation, which filled the church, rave-their testimony as having been per-sonal witnesses to the changes which the past week had wrought in a physiher.

For a long time previous to this physicians and surgeons had decreed that there was no help for her but in having her leg amputated, and she was only waiting to become stronger to submit to the operation. In her then weak condition the trial would have been dangerous.

As she became more and more impressed that the great change was near at hand, she discarded medicines, yet left them on the table directly by her pillow. She would not be tempted by them, and in the time of her greatest

NO RELIGIOUS EXCITEMENT.

NO RELIGIOUS EXCITEMENT.

There seems to be no religious excitement connected with this restoration. Mrs. Walton says that she was never more calm. She feels that the peace that came to her at the instant she was wholly healed will abide with her. She has not a fear for the future. And she continually reiterates the statement: "It was simple faith in Jesus that did it—nothing else. His power for healing is the same today as when He walked upon the shores of Galilee. I am healed without money and without price." Directly after the morning service Mrs. Walton, with several others, received the rite of baptism by immersion.

In the California souvenir department at the Chicago Exposition is a unique flag, composed of silk and cancelled U. S. postage stamps, which was the work of Mrs. Walton while lying upon her bed. The stamps were selected from 165,000, in order to use only the bright ones, and over 10,000 have gone into the composition of the flag. Friends in great numbers constantly collected for her, and she has still canceled stamps on hand to the numconsected for her, and she has still canceled stamps on hand to the number of 100,000, neatly boxed in packages of 100 each. Her colonial flag was undertaken in order to raise money to meet the expense of the expected amputation.

corted the reporter over the new structure. The task involved climbing ladders, walking floor beams at dizzy heights and all that sort of thing, but this was mere play to Mr. Holmes, notwithstanding his several hundred pounds of avoirdupois He only drew the line at sliding down the elevator rope from the top floor, as some of the workmen did when dinner time came, thus depriving the reporter of what would probably have turned out to be a first-class news item.

Architect Strange, Contractor Mc-Nally and Perry Bonham, who captured the contract for the plumbing, are all busy as bees. Under their efficient direction the work has progressed so far on schedule time, and there is every reason to believe that the house will be thrown open to the public in in October, as contemplated. One can now form a good idea of the conveniences and comfort which the sleeping apartments and suits in the sanex will afford. The open court in the center will furnish fresh air and sunlight to all of the inside rooms. The outside rooms are arranged in suits, and each suite has a private bath. Each floor will have a large reception hall. There will be porches and balconies opening off of each floor, from which commanding views of the country may be obtained in all directions. The entire house will be furnished in sumptuous style, and the dining-hall will be of white and gold exclusively. At one end will stand a huge French mirror, and at the opposite end the musicians' stand will be located. To furnished the size of the severt be of white and gold exclusively. At one end will stand a huge French mirror, and at the opposite end the musicians' stand will be located. To furnish an idea of the size of this room it may be stated that it will be supplied with sixty-six tables, capable of seating 286 people. This is exclusive of a smaller room adjoining the main hall on the north, which will be fitted up in similar style and used on ordinary occasions as a cafe. The office will take up all the space occupied by the old dining-room. The floor will be covered with marble tiles, and all the appointment will be in keeping. Numerous changes and improvements will be made in the interior of the old or southend of the hotel, and when the grand opening takes place next fall, the peowill admit that, in the face of all that The Times has said on the subject, the half has never been told.

UP IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Hotel Rublo and Echo Mountain, the principal points of the Love.

Hotel Rubio and Echo Mountain, the rincipal points of interest of the Lowe Mountain road, were visited by number of visitors on Saturday and Sunday, the majority of whom were from Pasadena and Los Angeles. Saturday evening the canyon was briliantly illuminated over the entire distance to the falls, and those who visited it for the first time were deeply impressed with the novelty and beauty of the scene. Shortly before 9 o'clock the visitors assembled on the south porch of the pavilion overlooking the canyon, where they were treated to a briliant spectacle, produced by throwing calcium lights of several colors on a stream of water projected out, into the canyon. It was the first time the experiment had been tried and it proved a pronounced success. Shortly after a display of fireworks on the summit of loftly Vesuvius was witnessed, and the balance of the evening prior to the departure of the 9;40 train, was occupied by Prof. James, who described various points of interest along the line of the road, his remarks being illustrated by a number of stereopticon views.

The cars on the incline now carry two large lamps on their sides, which shine far out into the valley at night, and mark the course of the cars as they ascend and descend between Hotel Rubio and Echo Mountain.

A BRICKYARD ON FIRE.

The seemingly paradoxical statement that there was a brickyard on fire in Pasadena Sunday afternoon is strictly true. That is, there was a fire in a brickyard, which is much the same thing.

Shortly before I o'clock an alarm was turned in from the box at the corner of Marengo avenue and California street. The department responded with its usual promptness, and the fire was quickly located in Simons's brickyard, south of California street and east of Moline avenue. A grass fire on an adjoining field had communicated with a big pile of wood in the brickyard, and by the time the firemen had arrived, there was quite a lively blaze. Before the flames could be extinguished between fifteen and twenty cords of wood had been consumed. Fortunately the damage extended no further. The alarm created 'considerable excitement and many people followed the firemen to the scene of excitement.

Monday, July 17—that is, today—may become memorable in local municipal history; firstly, because it may decide whether J. G. Rossiter, Esq., is the legally-appointed Recorder of this city, and, if not, who is, or who may be; and, secondly, because on this day may occur the opening of bids for paving the business streets of town. The first event of importance above referred to is billed for Judge Shaw's courtroom in Los Angeles. The festivities will open in the morning hours. The second event is scheduled for the Council chamber at 2 p.m. The gravity of the occasion renders further preliminary comment unseemly.

Another immense crowd visited Santa Monica yesterday, every train being more than filled, and a great many people were obliged to stand upon the platforms. The Ninth Infantry band of Pomona was here and discoursed mish from the band stant or part of the crowd betook themselves to the canyon to witness the balloon ascension. This feature of the day was rather a tame affair. During the inflation of a balloon that one of the two aeronauts was to ascend in, an accident happened that was not upon the programme. When the balloon was about half filled with hot air, it suddenly exploded and sank to the comfluer of the spectators. The other balloon was, however, filled without accident, and after much delay was launched into the air with Mile. Leroy in the basket. Discussing the Great Bicycle Road Race.

om Morris's Victory a Source of Pride Suits Against the Disreputable Attorney Hayford-Briefs

Sunday was a very quiet but pleasant day in Santa Ana. Those people who did not take their departure early in the morning for some seaside or mountain resort for a day's recreation, contented themselves, many of them, in buying a Sunday Times and poring over the news of the world as specially prepared by The Times' indeatigable workers. For Orange county people, the short Associated Press telegram from Goshen, Ind., announcing that Tom Morris had won the 100-yard footrace against six other starters in the remarkable time of 9 3-3 seconds, was particularly interesting and gratifying. As Morris is an Oranga county boy, and, as it has only been a few years since that he found out that he could run like a scared deer, the people feel that his victory Saturday over some of the fastest runners in the world is all the more remarkable. His victory was the principal topic of conversation Sunday morning on the streets, and many were the expressions of satisfaction from young and old that Orange county should furnish the fastest footracer in the United States, and probably in the world.

Upward of five thousand people visited the Gov. Ames Sunday. Special trains were run from San Bernardino, Riverside and Rediands. Every one was delighted. CITY SCHOOL TAX.

A Question as to How It is to Be Levied.

Board of Supervisors to Act?-Issues Raised by a Supreme Court

it the Duty of the Council or th

The question as to whether the taxes for city school purposes shall be levied by the City Council or the Board of Supervisors promises to be a difficult one to settle.

In conformity with directions re ceived from the State Superintendent of Public Instruction the Board of Edu-cation has submitted both to the City Council and to the Board of Supervisors a copy of the estimates of expenses connected with the maintenance of the schools for the ensuing year. The esti-mate of expenses as published in yesterday's Times amounts to $294.050.

The cash on band, together with the sums to be received from the county and State, amount to $162,010.89, leaving a balance of $132.039.11 necessary to be obtained in order to make up the total estimate.

This would apparently relieve the Board of Education of all responsibility connected with the question and place it in the hands of the supervisors and

According to the city charter it is the duty of the Council to levy the taxes in question.

Section 71, article 7, says that the Board of Elucation shall have sole power to determine annually the amount of money required for the support of the public schools, and for carrying into effect all the provisions of law in reference thereto, and in pure law in reference thereto; and, in pur-suance of this provision, the board shall, on or before the 15th day of July shall, on or before the 15th day of July of each year, submit in writing to the City Council a careful estimate of the whole amount of money to be received from the State and county and the amount sequired from the city for the above purposes, and the City Council shall in each year fix the percentage of taxes to be levied and collected for school purposes; provided that the school purposes; provided that the amount to be thus levied for school pur-amount to be thus levied for school purposes shall not sexceed 20 cents on each $100 valuation upon the assessment rolls, and that when collected it shall be paid into the school fund."

It will be remembered, however, that the Supreme Court rendered a decision affecting the question in a San Diego case some two months ago, an account of which then appeared in The Times.

According to this decision, the city as a municipality and the city as a school district are entirely distinct. As a school district the city would be entitled to the same rights and privileges and would be subject to the same rules and regulations as those governing any regulations as those governing any other school district within the county. other school district within the county. This being the case the estimate of school expenses must be presented to the Board of Supervisors the same as the estimate from any other school district within the county would be.

In view of these facts it would seem that the point at issue would be whether the State law where or the city char-the State law proper or the city char-ter, created under a State law, should govern the levying of taxes.

This being the condition of affairs, it is unlikely that either the City Council or the Board of Supervisors will be inclined to take the initiative and assume the responsibility of levying the proposed taxes.

posed taxes.

The attitude of the members of the Council toward the Board of Education while not hostile, is not altogether har-monious. It is thought, therefore, that any reasonable excuse for referring questions of school finances to the Board of Supervisors will be taken advantage of by the councilmen.

CITY COUNCIL.

Some of the Matters That Will Come Up Today. The widening of First street, between

The ordinance, as approved by the Board of Health, regulating the care of cases of contagioas diseases, is expected to be presented.

The selection of a manager of the Free Labor Bureau will also probably come up. It so stated that the name of the pernicious little agitator, Katz, has been withdrawn by the labor organizations. President Teed plainly stated that he would not advocate an agitator whose policy was rule or ruin, and that if the attempt was forther made to foist him on the Council that he would give his record. This had the desired effect, and Katz, it is said, was promptly pulled off.
